Hello Everyone! I am sure after the Holidays many of you may have over celebrated with the pumpkin pie as I did. I promised myself driving to the Jacksonville Rental Finders office today to get back on the health wagon. I had noticed on my many trips to Jason's Deli a new place opening called Tossgreen. A few coworkers and I chose to visit the new Tossgreen Salad spot in Jacksonville, Florida and see if it was open today, and it was. It is located next to the Jason's Deli on Southside Blvd near the Tinseltown area. Tossgreen is a "fast-casual" restaurant where you can create your own salad or burrito. They have every imaginable combination (thousands) for both and it is all FRESH. Tossgreen offers an easy 4 step menu, we thought the prices were reasonable, great portion sizes and we loved the care they put into making each salad we had.

The "official" grand opening for Tossgreen in Jacksonville is Tuesday January 8th, 2013 but they are open now. I would like to mention they also have frozen yogurt which is right on par with some of the better yogurt places in town. If you would like to learn more please visit their site at <http://www.tossgreen.com>
